Missionary news:

Doug and Carol Woon in Japan

Pray for the Japanese church. They endeavor to have an impact on their community even though their numbers are small.

Above are preserved nameko mushrooms, but it's the writing at the bottom of the label that makes it interesting. We don't know the background on this, but we were at a store that had several products with several Bible verses written on them. Yamazaki Bakeries, the biggest baking company in Japan, is another company that is owned by Christians.
