Missionary news:

Ace and Cecilia, Niger

Thank you for praying for the Way of Righteousness app. Its icon is the silhouette of a Tuareg camel saddle against the sun and red sand of the Sahara. Thanks once again to the collaboration of many, the app is now available on Google Play and the App Store. We are also bringing magnets with QR codes that will bring people to this website so that the audio teachings in Tamajaq can be easily downloaded. The website is still under construction, but almost ready to be published.

One week from this Wednesday afternoon, we should have landed back in Niger. We have an appointment for COVID-19 tests this Sunday, which we need for our trip. It is definitely different this time, leaving our eldest daughter, Elise, in Canada. It feels a bit like the first time we left, but different.

We're thankful for our team leaders in Niger who are preparing for our landing and quarantine period. This includes fixing new electrical problems and plumbing leaks, preparing our vehicle, visa applications, and grocery shopping.

We pray for God's grace to be worthy ambassadors of His love and light even as we prepare for our return. We pray for the many in Niger who do not know the true Jesus Christ, and for those who follow to grow deeper in their faith. We are grateful to be sent and supported by you, so that we may bring news of our Father's gracious love to Niger.

By His grace,
Ace & Cecilia
